A good yearbook is not just a collection of pictures with names underneath. The names belong to people, and the pictures deal with what those people have been doing and groups with whom the people identify themselves. Often the names by themselves do not mean so much; even a picture, "worth a thousand words," cannot convey more than a fleeting impression of activities and events, unless there is in our minds a freshness of similar impressions ready to call forth the flood of emotions, conversation, and movement through which we relive our past.

It is good for us to recall where we have been and what we have done. Yearbooks can help to bridge our memory with concrete impressions: names to go with the faces, a building we occupied, the Queen escorted to her throne; these all belong to us, because we were a part of them. Through them we recall our hopes, and see how far we have come.

A good yearbook, then, is a complete story. It is not merely a bound catalog, nor a decorative class report. It is a reflection of all of us in that place that year, of our foibles as well as hopes and successes. Your yearbook staff will feel its effort well expended if, within these pages, you have caught a reflection of yourself as you were in 1953-54.

Northwestern enjoyed its 25th Anniversary Homecoming this year with Queen Evelyn Bolks reigning. On September 24 the festivities began with a demonstration downtown, the burning of Willie Worthington, and the outstanding anniversary pageant. The big day was Friday, the 25th, when the coronation and victory parade were held. The Raiders defeated Worthington and gave the perfect end to Homecoming 1953.

Much credit is due to the Beacon Staff. Under the editorship of Arie Brouwer, this staff has done a remarkable and outstanding job this year. Everyone can rightly be proud that the Beacon is representative of Northwestern. During the year Carol Veencamp was chosen by the student body as the assistant editor. Next year's Beacon Staff will continue to progress under her capable leadership.

The De Klompen Staff recognizes the problems a publication has in meeting its deadlines. The Beacon Staff appears in this section because of the difficulty in meeting a photography deadline.

Their serious faces reflecting the thought of the hymn they sing, the chapel audience joins in praising the name of the Lord.

DRAMATICS

Pictured are some of the members of the cast and stage crew of the Academy production "Pride and Prejudice." The All-College play this year was "Elizabeth the Queen" by Maxwell Anderson. Included in Northwestern's dramatics department are such divisions as radio speaking, interpretative reading and original oratory.

INTRA MURALS

These pictures are action shots taken at two Intra Mural games played this year. The Intra Mural program is a comparatively new organization on the campus. Bob Mouw and Dena Van Oort are in charge of the activities that provide for release from the routine of books.

MISS CLARA VAN TIL — PRINCIPAL

Miss Van Til is principal of Northwestern Classical Academy. We are privileged to have her with us as a leader of our school.

She has accomplished much this first year she has been with us. We have started many new organizations with her as our leader and most faithful supporter.

Best of all we consider Miss Van Til as a close friend. She has helped us individually as well as in groups. We always feel free to go to Miss Van Til for helpful Christian advice.

WHAT'S IT LIKE AT HOPE COLLEGE

Students entering Hope College quickly find opportunity among the many college activities for individual participation and wholesome fellowship. They also find, just as quickly, that Hope College places much importance upon scholarship and training in Christian leadership. Permeating the entire Hope College program is the credo of recognizing the individual, and of drawing out from each student the resources that make for mental growth, as well as for character development. Students and faculty are, in effect, a team - with neither being a stranger to the other. The goal is to have the 800 students currently enrolled in Hope College from the majority of states and 11 foreign countries face the future with more than a diploma to show for their college life at Hope.

CENTRAL COLLEGE

Accredited by North Central Association

Founded in 1853 as a Baptist school, Central College, Pella, has operated one hundred years continuously. Since 1916 the school has been under the Reformed Church in America.

As a part of the Centennial expansion in the last six years, an addition to the Women's dormitory was completed in 1947; the A. N. Kuyper Stadium was completed in 1949; the greenhouse by botanical specimens was completed in 1950; Gaass Hall, men's dormitory, was dedicated in June 1951; the Pietsenpol observatory housing a 6½-inch Albrach-Clark telescope, was completed in 1952. Work continues on raising funds for the proposed library addition and the $100,000 Memorial Union.

More important—the faculty has been enlarged and strengthened, the holdings of the library increased, the curriculum expanded. Courses offer a well-balanced college education with emphasis on Christian personality at a reasonable cost.

CENTRAL HALL AND DOUWSTRA CHAPEL symbolizes the two greatest forces in the world today—education and religion.
